

A selection of our popular hosts and presenters suitable for after dinner events, or full day conferences.

A - Budget up to £500

B - £501 - £1000

C - £1001 - £2000

D – Over £2000

Barry York – Versatile comedian / host. Has worked with audiences ranging from 20 – 2000 and will either work as a serious announcer / presenter, or as a light hearted comedy compere. Superb value (A)

Malcolm Lord – Hugely in demand former BBC sports commentator. A strong background in rugby, Malcolm is particularly appreciated at sports dinners, as compere / comedian / speaker. (A)

Herbie James – Standup comedian for many years and able to host/compere your event in a professional manner. (A)

James H Reeve – From Talksport and BBC GMR. Dry laid back approach from this cult figure. (A)

John Gwyne – From Sky Sports and Granada / BBC North. Former darts presenter, now roving sports reporter. (A)

Chris Britten – Comedian / compere. Sports dinners a speciality, where his ability as a comedian allows in him to ad lib whenever. (A)

Sam Homer – Professional, polished performer. Sam has been in cabaret for 30 years, bringing his professionalism to the job. (A)

Norman Prince – Extremely professional, slick host / speaker. Able to work as both host and comedy speaker at events, or work to a script. Norman is a famous Lancastrian, following his cabaret days, and now his BBC Radio show. (A)

Jason McCartney – From ITV's Calendar. Sports reporter / presenter. Very competent host for sports related events. (A)

John Boyd – Many years experience as a BBC Sports reporter and presenter. An ideal Master of Ceremonies for a sports dinner where his knowledge of sport is unique along with his sport quiz "Each Way Bet". (A)

Mark Jones – Radio Presenter. Very experienced host, from worldwide awards festivals, to local fundraising events. (B)

Harry Gration – From BBC’s Look North. Very popular speaker, and presenter / host. (B)

Christa Ackroyd – Television partner of Harry, and equally popular speaker and presenter. Also Sunday Express columnist. (B)

Vince Miller – Very slick and professional host / MC. Vince introduced Granada TV’s “Fight Night” for many years, and has officiated and numerous events, both sporting and corporate. (B)

Ann D. Salter – Corporate / TV presenter / producer. A keen travel explorer, Ann has presented a number of SKY Travel shows, and brings a dynamic energy to hosting. (B)

Helene Hunt – Former “Bond Girl” and BBC trained journalist. Amusing, intelligent, attractive and professional, Helene’s skills suit any type of event, whether as a host or interviewer, Helene is happy to work to a script, or work to a brief. (B)

Graham Davies – Possibly one of the best entertaining presenters on the corporate circuit today. Can work with or without full brief, and adds a touch of class to the job in hand. Very entertaining, Graham is happy to “pad” any gaps with tailored humour, and will also work as a company imposter if appropriate. (D)

Quentin Wilson – From C5’s “Fifth Gear” and BBC’s “The Cars The Star” Columnist, enthusiast, and campaigner on consumer car related issues! A wonderfully professional dry and witty presenter. (D)

Other celebrity Hosts (Fees ranging from £2500 - £25,000), and by arrangement with their respective managements.

Ant & Dec
Davina McCall
Kirsty Gallacher
Gaby Logan (nee Roslin)
Desmond Lynam